

Our Orientation

Höchsmann & Company is a consultancy that focuses on developing and safeguarding personnel decisions at senior executive level. To emphasize this orientation, we have chosen to call ourselves Consultants in Executive Choices.

Executive choices can refer to decisions affecting other people, e.g. on setting up or adding to a management team, but also to decisions on an individual's own career and personal development.

Executives seeking individual advice can benefit from our one-to-one coaching sessions on career / life and personal decisions. More details on this can be found under „Services“ / „Executive Coaching“.

The following sections concentrate on our position as consultants on assessment and appointment decisions (Management Assessment & Executive Search).
