

Our Core Sectors

We are not just masters of our own craft, systematic market research, and of the art of correctly assessing people, situations and business cultures – we also know our customers' business environments because we have been active in the sectors mentioned below for over 20 years.

Our knowledge of these industries has been gained both from our own management experience and from several hundred consultancy projects.

With our profound competence and our wealth of experience, we can offer an ideal combination of specialist insider knowledge and innovative interdisciplinary thinking.

The diagram below shows just four examples from each sector:
